

CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT

A proper school environment is essential for intellectual, social and emotional development of students. Appropriate behavior is a prerequisite for learning. It is expected that all students will conduct themselves in a way that promotes learning and preserves the rights of others. Listed below are the responsibilities and obligations of each El Rodeo student. Although the list is comprehensive, it may not be all-inclusive.

ATTENDANCE

I will remain on campus at all times during the school day and attend all of my classes except for legally excused reasons (illness, medical appointments, bereavement, or quarantine). I will leave a classroom only with teacher permission and an authorized hall pass. If I must leave campus during the school day, an authorized adult through the school office will sign me out. (Students may not be picked up in front of the school or at the flag pole). I will sign in through the school office upon my return or if, for any reason, I am late to school. Following an absence, I will present a signed absence slip to my homeroom teacher.

PUNCTUALITY

I will arrive on time for all of my classes. I understand that tardies impact student performance and disrupt the classroom process. Detention will be assigned for tardiness to school.

RESPECT FOR OTHERS

I will respect the dignity and right of every student and adult at El Rodeo School. I will refrain from making racial slurs or using vulgar, obscene or insulting language. I understand that I am responsible for conducting myself responsibly with regard to the rights and safety of others and that failure to do so will result in serious consequences. I will respect the personal property of others and understand that I will only take possession of someone else's property with their permission. I understand the bullying will not be tolerated in any form.
